Welcome

To Botetourt County

The Botetourt County Chamber of Commerce and its members welcome you to the 23rd edition of Botetourt Living magazine. This edition also covers activities from our Chamber's 75th Anniversary in 2020. The magazine serves as a guide for visitors and for citizens — those who recently moved here or have lived here for a lifetime. It's particularly geared to our business community and each of us who has a vested interest in the continuing mission to develop this great place to live, work, and play.

Botetourt County is an ideal environment for business and family. Major markets and resource bases are located within a few hours of here and the labor pool is strongly supported with educational and training venues. As an area for arts and culture, Botetourt offers a wide range of amenities with attractive shopping and entertainment opportunities. Outdoor recreation in Botetourt County, including many square miles of Jefferson National Forest and rivers, is second to none in every season.

Botetourt County, a repository for many forms of historical information, was founded in 1770. Lord Botetourt, for whom the County is named, served as Governor of Virginia. The County is now part of the Roanoke Metropolitan Area, though in early times its lands extended as far west as Illinois and Wisconsin. The County shares the Southern Shenandoah Valley with its neighbor jurisdictions of Roanoke County, the cities of Roanoke and Salem, and the Town of Vinton.

Welcome to our beautiful County and all that it offers.
We invite you to visit or call the Chamber for more information.

During 2020, Botetourt County used $421,000 in federal CARES Act funding to support more than 130 small businesses and farms in their recovery from pandemic related challenges.

Anna Weddle

Four years ago, Anna Weddle sought a seat on the Botetourt County School Board because “I felt they needed a new voice,” she says. “No one on the board then had kids in the system. Now four out of five of us do. I felt that I had a connection with parents and teachers.”

Now, as the newly-minted Board Chair, Anna has overseen the move from the old Colonial Elementary School to the spacious new building on Murray Drive, in the middle of the term, amidst one of the most challenging school years in memory, as school districts nationwide face the challenge of safely providing education during a pandemic.

It’s been 21 years since Botetourt County built a new school.

“Teachers and volunteers packed their classrooms, loaded, moved and unloaded the trucks,” Anna says. “They moved in while teaching three lesson plans: A schedule, B schedule and remote learners. None of this could have happened without their dedication.”

In January, Colonial’s 422 students and 20 teachers entered a new building with room to accommodate Botetourt County’s rapid growth, and the technology to enhance learning.

“Every classroom has new ActivPanels, which are sort of like blackboard-sized iPads,” says Anna. “Students can interact and write on the board, while teachers can access videos and apps from anywhere in the room.”

Different types of flexible seating have made social distancing easier to achieve, and a secure vestibule gives office staff an opportunity to vet visitors before allowing them entry into the building.

Teachers and administrators also learned to use a new-to-them learning management system, Canvas, in about a week’s time. Canvas will be in use for the new Virtual Academy which opens this fall. Virtual Academy is an online learning option available to any student with a high-speed internet connection.

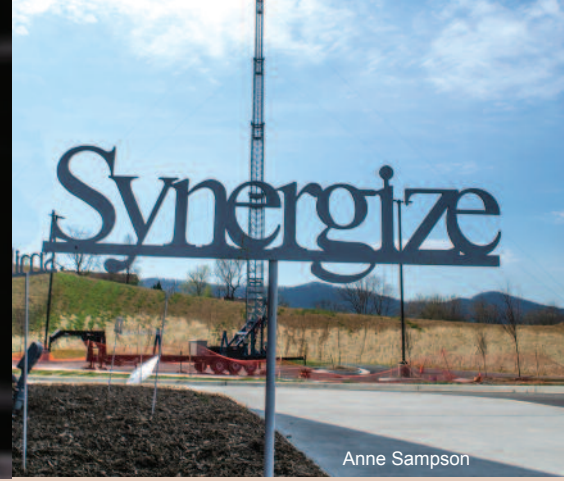

Although “learning lag” has been a concern all over the country, it’s not severe among Botetourt students.

“It’s not as bad as we expected,” says Anna. “We have a plan for overcoming learning lag.”

The school board continues to focus on keeping students’ achievement levels at the top of the region, now and post-pandemic, as well as catching up on deferred maintenance on the county’s mostly older school buildings.

“New Colonial” as it’s informally known, is much more than a brand-new building.

“It’s been an opportunity to give our students hope,” says Anna. “They deserved a fresh start. It’s a been a hard year.”

Anna, her husband, Chris and their two daughters, Holly, 10, and Macy, 8.

A “Q&A” with Botetourt’s Lumos Networks >

From “the old telephone company” to today’s internet provider, many folks in Botetourt County have known your business by different names (especially people who have lived here a long time). Would you explain those identities?

Our company’s story dates back more than a century when a group of local residents banded together to form the Roanoke and Botetourt Telephone Company. The new company was created by offering shares for $10 each on November 20, 1900, and with the formation of a nine-person board, that included J.W. Layman—who became a well-known leader of the Roanoke and Botetourt Telephone Company for decades. The company proudly served local consumers and businesses for 100 years when it merged in 2000 to become NTELOS. A little more than a decade later, in 2011, the wireline division of NETLOS was spun off to create what we are known as today: Lumos Networks, a fiber internet provider serving residential and businesses in many Virginia regions.

Would you describe the Lumos Networks position in Botetourt?

Situated in the heart of Botetourt County near Botetourt High School, Lumos Networks' Daleville office is conveniently located at 1900 Roanoke Road. In addition to Daleville, we have offices in Covington and Waynesboro, which serves as the headquarters of Lumos Networks.

We've heard from customers—both residential and business—time and time again that they consider Lumos Networks as more than an “average internet provider.” Lumos Networks has emerged as an industry leader by providing the fastest internet speeds available from a trusted fiber network that can be counted on for its reliability. We know that fast, reliable internet is what our customers need to stay connected to the things that matter—and that has become more important than ever during the last year.

What were some major projects or milestones from Lumos over the past year or so?

Through 2020 and early 2021, we've expanded our network to serve an additional 553 homes in Botetourt County. A new expansion project is underway in 2021 to add even more homes, with another 548 new addresses planned for completion by mid-2022.

“We get requests to bring fiber to homes and businesses in Botetourt County regularly, and we've seen those inquiries increase even more in the last year. We know that access to high-speed internet is critically important to this community. Our team is very excited to be expanding our fiber network to meet this need.”

– Heidi Padgett

What is Lumos planning or scheduled to perform in Botetourt County in the immediate future or in the next year or so?

Lumos is on the move and continues to expand to better serve the local community. Thanks to a $1,364,337 grant from the Virginia Telecommunication Initiative (VATI), we're working to expand our fiber footprint again in Botetourt County. The grant is being used as part of a project to install fiber to provide high-speed internet to 548 new addresses, including 30 businesses.

The Botetourt County portion of the project begins the installation of 59 miles of fiber-optic cable, including areas near Wheatland Road, Old Hollow Road, Lithia, and Exit 162 along Rt. 11. With this announcement, Botetourt County adds to the more than 1,400 residents and businesses who have already been included in announcements of broadband expansions in the past year. As a result, officials anticipate that approximately 85% of residents will have access to broadband internet. The Lumos technical team already is hard at work to introduce new fiber service to many local addresses by the end of 2021 with completion of the visionary project by mid-2022.

“This expansion makes it possible for more people in Botetourt County to have fast, reliable fiber internet, and supports growing bandwidth needs as many of us are working and learning from home. We are very much looking forward to offering fiber optic broadband to more households in Botetourt County. Lumos is a technology leader in the industry because we install fiber all the way to the home and include symmetrical upload and download speed as a standard offering, which results in much more reliable service than other types of broadband

What is the most important thing the citizens, businesses, visitors, and other stakeholders need to know about your work and commitment in Botetourt County?

“We are honored to serve Botetourt County and committed to supporting its broadband growth initiatives. Our continued expansion of the Lumos fiber footprint makes it possible for more people in our community to have fast, reliable fiber internet, which is especially important to those working and learning from home.

— Karen Hoch

At Lumos Networks, we’re proud to be widely known as an industry leader due to our customer satisfaction ratings in service and reliability—we take customer satisfaction very seriously and work hard to live up to our commitment to serving customers.

Lumos offers broadband availability to nearly 200,000 residential and SMB locations, the majority of which are served with high bandwidth fiber. And we’re not resting on our laurels: We have plans to continue our growth track and to continue to expand our service areas.

Keeping Connected

You could probably say that Kathryn Stroehmann Bishop of Commonwealth Computer Services (CCS) has business in her blood.

"My great-grandfather, Frederick, came over on the boat from Germany in 1881," she says. "He married a baker's daughter in Wheeling, West Virginia and started Mother's Bread."

His sons, Kathryn's grandfather and great-uncle, founded Stroehmann's Bakery, and with their father's help, built it into the largest family-owned bakery in the United States, carried on by Kathryn's father and uncle.

"According to a book my great-uncle wrote, in 1936, the Governor of Pennsylvania had Stroehmann's bread airmailed every day when he vacationed in Florida," says Kathryn.

The Stroehmanns were innovators, and Kathryn's father held many patents.

"My grandfather was snickered at when he referred to doing sliced bread," she remembers. "I think we brought the first commercial bread slicer to market."

Kathryn has kept up the family-owned business tradition, but her business is all 21st century. CCS has provided computer and network set-up, troubleshooting, data transfer and back-up, security and repair for businesses and individuals, since 1997.

The company is this year's platinum winner in The Roanoker magazine's "Best Of Roanoke" in the computer service category.

Streamlining and securing operations are her favorite kinds of work.

"[I like] going into a company, cleaning out all their bloatware and making sure all else is right, including security, and then maintaining it," says Kathryn. "This monthly maintenance ensures network security is right on which keeps their system streamlined so they can do what they do, without pulling their hair out."

The reward is knowing that she's left their business safe and secure. CCS helps private computer owners too, especially older users.

"I personally have a heart for the seniors," says Kathryn, "tutoring them about safe computing, transferring photos, showing them how to keep connected with their kids and grandkids and how not to give away their children's inheritance!"

Kathryn handles the front-end, administrative responsibilities at CCS, often working from home, and hires skilled technicians and contractors to cover the technical aspects of the business. Since security is paramount, technicians undergo background checks and hold many certifications, including

Anne Sampson

HIPAA, the Department of Defense and Homeland Security.

Covid restrictions posed some challenges early on, as well as pointing toward the future.

“It was like wartime,” Kathryn says. “My technicians carried essential travel papers. One was stopped in West Virginia to find out why he was on the road. But Covid forced companies, schools and individuals to have a mind shift, realizing we’re in the 21st century, where in most situations, people can work efficiently from home.

Kathryn's home office is filled with 21st century technology and memorabilia from the 19th and early 20th centuries.

Yet there are a lot of protocols that need to be in place to be secure."

Kathryn sees the future as wide open.

"IT isn't going anywhere," she says, "and with working remotely, there's only more demand to make sure security is tight."

Kathryn has put down roots in Botetourt County.

"We're here to serve," she says.

"There is a lot of ignorance in this industry, and where there's ignorance there's fear, and where there's fear there needs to be trust.

Personally, I serve as a Botetourt Chamber Ambassador and as the Membership Chair for the Botetourt Rotary. I've lived in Botetourt since 2001 and have four children in Botetourt schools."

While Kathryn feels a deep connection with her 19th century bakery roots, she's looking to the future with the CCS tagline, 'Keeping You Connected.'

"I like going into a company, cleaning out all their bloatware, and making sure all else is right, including security, and then maintaining it."

Around the time that the Craig-Botetourt Rural Electric Cooperative (CBEC) was incorporated, in August 1936, nine out of 10 rural homes in the US had no access to electricity.

This kept rural economies focused on agriculture, and farm families engaged in labor-intensive work. It just didn't make financial sense to investor-owned utility companies to pay for infrastructure to provide for sparse rural populations.

In 1933, the year President Franklin Roosevelt took office, the Tennessee Valley Authority was established so that transmission lines could serve "farms and small villages that are not otherwise supplied with electricity at reasonable rates." In 1935, Executive Order #7037 created the Rural Electrification Administration (REA). The following year, the Rural Electrification Act was passed and loans were made available for infrastructure.

Utility companies still weren't interested, but farmer-owned cooperatives sure were. In 1937, the REA drafted the Electric Cooperative Corporation Act, which allowed for the formation and operation of not-for-profit, consumer-owned electric cooperatives.

Today, most rural electrification is provided by locally owned cooperatives that started by borrowing funds from REA. These co-ops serve 42 million people and power over 20 million businesses. REA is now the Rural Utilities Service, or RUS, and is part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

While the CBEC has seen many changes since 1936, its central mission remains the same:

“Each member/owner will be provided with the benefit of safe, reliable electric service at the lowest possible cost consistent with sound management and the Cooperative principles.” (cbec.coop)

CBEC’s CEO, Jeff Ahearn, joined the co-op in 2017 as an engineer. His career has been almost completely involved with co-ops since high school.

“I graduated from high school and was hired by a local phone cooperative in (hometown) Belhaven, North Carolina,” he says. He worked part-time as a cable installer for their new cable TV service. When he made plans to attend UNC Charlotte, the co-op’s engineering contractor offered Jeff a job in Charlotte. After graduation and a short stint at the EPA, he worked for electrical cooperatives in Pantego, North Carolina and Midway, Georgia.

“In 2017, I jumped on an opportunity at Craig-Botetourt Electric as the System Engineer,” says Jeff. Since then, he has served as Manager of Electric Distribution Services and as the Interim General Manager, before stepping into the role of CEO in February 2020.

CBEC provides electricity to customers in seven mountainous counties – Roanoke, Botetourt, Montgomery, Giles and Craig in Virginia, and Monroe County, West Virginia. Over 90% of those users are residential. That translates into 1,384 miles of power line, with five members per mile. Challenge is what keeps Jeff motivated, and there are challenges ahead, as the needs to provide high-speed internet to rural customers, and collect real-time data on power usage and outages become more pressing. To meet those needs, the future of CBEC is “smart.”

“We are looking to add “Smart Grid” technology to our entire system,” says Jeff. “This is composed of the AMI (advanced metering infrastructure) project, system automation with self-healing network technology. The fiber/broadband project (known as Bee Online Advantage) is an integral part of this technology rollout. We will leverage our fiber network to communicate with the smart devices on our electrical system. We are also evaluating stored energy (such as battery storage) for demand peak shaving. This will reduce our power supply cost which will translate to lower rates, or more likely, higher capital credit assignments to our members. [We’re also looking at] community solar projects and electric vehicle charging stations.”

The AMI project represents a transition from Power-Line Carrier technology (existing power lines transmit daily updates on usage and outages – no more meter readers) to radio frequency communication which provides near real-time updates, improving usage management and outage response times.

Jeff surveys the Coal Gap Substation, constructed by the CBEC in the mid-70’s.

From your Director

To: Members of the Botetourt Chamber of Commerce

From: Khari K. Ryder, Executive Director

Dear Members,

As the new Executive Director of the Chamber, I would like to extend a very BIG Thank You for your membership and continued commitment to the Chamber. Your annual investment (membership) in the Chamber goes towards the support of a number of events, and initiatives that benefit not only businesses in the Botetourt and outlying regions, but also your community as a whole. A few initiatives that you may not be aware of that your investment supports include: programs that aid in teaching job skills to job seekers in the community, internship opportunities, access to resources for business loans, support, and promotion, and of course the networking events where you, the members can meet, learn, and support/use the services of your fellow members at a member rate. You the members support our mission to continue to Advocate, Educate, and Facilitate.

But what do you get for your investment? You get access to marketing opportunities that extend your reach beyond word of mouth and commercial methods. You get business support, the ability to post jobs, seek interns, organizational structure review and support, access to local, state, and federal resources for information that can affect your business and industry, access to events, networking outings, the annual dinner, and seminars that will elevate your business, your knowledge, and your impact on your community. You get a voice of support and a sounding board for feedback for your growth. You get a value that you are helping to build your infrastructure, develop and possibly retain talent, and through the Chamber membership you are driving the economic prosperity for Botetourt! These are only a few of the benefits and returns for your investment (membership). Under our new strategic plan, we want to build on the benefits and returns to better serve you. Through your input, your feedback, and your guidance we want to build on this partnership and growth!

Again, thank you for your support, and your continued membership!

Sincerely,

Chef Will Barkett says it's his fault that his family added the Fincastle Café and The Pie Shoppe to their palette of family businesses.

"I worked at the Pomegranate and at Metro in Roanoke," he says. "I went to Tech, thinking I would do something else but I came back to this. Mom was looking for something too."

The family has a lot of something going on.

There's Woodsdale Events, a wedding and event venue on an early 19th century property on Mill Creek off of Lee Highway.

"That was the first thing," says Ginny Barkett, Will's mother. Woodsdale was launched in 2018.

Fincastle Café, offering coffee, tea and baked goods, opened in 2019, in the old pharmacy building on the corner of Main and Roanoke Streets.

"The building was deteriorating. It was in really bad shape," says Will. It had been empty for five years.

"The kids used to get off the school bus at the pharmacy," says Ginny. "They'd get their snacks there and come down to the office." The 'office' is Barkett-Allen Capital, a financial services company owned by Ginny's husband, Erryn.

Once it opened, the café quickly became THE place to gather in Fincastle.

"We had book clubs meeting here, Bible study groups," says Ginny.

They also bought The Pie Lady in 2019. They weren't set up to make pies at the café, so they continued to work out of the Pie Lady location across the street.

"We'd make [the pies] and run them across the street to the café," says Will.

With further renovations and build-out, The Pie Shoppe opened its brick-and-mortar storefront in August 2020.

That's right. In the middle of a pandemic lockdown.

"We were working on construction, and it was done," laughs Ginny, "so we opened!"

The next challenge was figuring out how to get their savory and dessert pies and breakfast quiches out into a mostly no-contact world.

"We started delivering pies to Roanoke," says Ginny. "Schools were closed, so we used them as pick-up points." They continue to deliver 100 to 150 pre-ordered pies to Black Dog Salvage for pick-up, leaving extra pies for impulse buys.

While dessert pies are popular – Dutch Caramel Apple, Peanut Butter and Chocolate Pecan are big sellers – The Pie Shoppe also has a large selection of savory, entrée pies.

“These are gourmet, French-style pies,” says Ginny. “They’re very meaty, there’s less “roux”, or gravy.”

There are nine varieties of chicken pies in two sizes, a family meal size and “Chicken Little” size. Chicken and Vegetables, and Chicken, Bacon, Spinach and Asiago Cheese are popular choices. Three breakfast quiches round out the menu. The shop also offers Virginia wines and food-themed gifts like candles and aprons. Boutique grocery stores in the Roanoke Valley, Lexington and Clifton Forge will be carrying pies too.

Finally, there’s 1772 Rooftop on Main, which opened a week after The Pie Shoppe. The inspiration for that was a leaky roof.

“Erryn was on up on top of the building with the roofers,” says Ginny. “He took a call up there and looked out and said, ‘What an amazing view!’”

1772 Rooftop is an outdoor venue serving craft cocktails, local beers and small plates, commanding a view of the historic courthouse, downtown Fincastle and the mountains beyond.

“Having an outdoor venue has really helped during Covid,” says Ginny. Tables are arranged to accommodate social distancing.

“It’s very Covid-friendly,” says Will. “People could wait outside on the sidewalk, if they weren’t comfortable indoors.”

The ambiance is enhanced by tabletop firepits and an airplane fuselage behind the bar.

“Erryn is a pilot,” says Ginny, “and they had this plane at Black Dog [Salvage] for a long time.” Spirits are kept inside the plane, and the tail hangs over the side of the building.

“You should have seen us getting it up here.” Says Ginny. “Erryn is a Big Idea Guy.”

Crazy as it sounds to open new enterprises during a lockdown, the businesses have supported each other.

“Having an outdoor venue helped,” Ginny says. “The Pie Shoppe is crazy busy from September to March or April, because the pies are so hearty. Then Rooftop takes off. But no one has been seated at the bar yet.”

Those book clubs and study groups are slowly coming back to the café, too.

The Barketts are also farmers, raising Jacobs Sheep, Black Angus cattle and experimenting last year with a hemp crop.

"We're in the learning phase," says Will, "we're so new to it." He just bought creekfront property with intention of raising trout and stocking it for fishing.

"People could 'rent' the creek for the day," he says. "In traditional farming it's hard to find new ways to make money. We're trying to think of every outlet possible."

"like" us and look for deals!

2020 was a year like no other in the more than 250-year history of Botetourt County. A year ago, no one could have imagined how the world could have been turned upside down by a global pandemic.

The changes and challenges of this past year have been unprecedented. We have seen so much pain and hurt across our country, yet we have also seen people come together in unimaginable ways. As a result, we have become stronger and will continue to strengthen in the coming year.

Before reviewing accomplishments of the past year, I want to take a moment to recognize the people who have been on the frontlines in our community during the pandemic. These are the heroes of Botetourt County. Our fire and EMS and Sheriff's Office first responders continue to put themselves at risk every day to help keep us all healthy and safe. Our teachers and school staff have continued to educate and help our students learn despite the many hurdles put in their paths. Our doctors, nurses, pharmacists, and every other medical professional have refused to give up the fight against the virus and have comforted the more than 1,800 people who have had COVID-19 in Botetourt County. Our essential workers at grocery stores, manufacturing plants, construction sites, restaurants, and too many other businesses to name have all worked hard to keep life as normal as possible. To all of these people and more who I may have missed, thank you for your service to Botetourt County. We are all grateful for what you have done for us this past year.

Despite the pandemic, however, your government has been hard at work this past year to not only help get us through the pandemic but also to build a bright future for years to come.

First on the list of accomplishments from this past year is one that you will hear more about in later presentations, but I am excited to talk about it as well. After years of discussions, preparation, and construction, the new Colonial Elementary School is open! Students, teachers, and staff are in the new building as we speak and excited for all of the opportunities that a new school brings.

I want to thank the hard work and partnership of the School Board, the Economic Development Authority, the Board of Supervisors, County and School staff, VDOT, contractors, utility companies, and residents. Everyone has come together to make sure our students and teachers have a facility that will last for generations. And, once again, I want to recognize our Master Building Official Jim Whitten who served as the clerk of the works for the school project. Without his steadfast hand guiding this project, we would not be celebrating this accomplishment today. Thank you, again, Jim, and everyone else who has been involved with the project.

Another area of great success this past year has been broadband expansion. As we have seen throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, access to affordable broadband is more important than ever. In fact, broadband expansion remains one of the highest priorities of both the Board and the community going into the new year. In October, the Board proclaimed a Botetourt Broadband Week as a celebration of community progress and connectivity to raise awareness of the County's last three years of effort to enhance broadband expansion across the County.

In the past year, the Board has approved well over $3 million of federal CARES Act money and other state grants for the expansion of broadband to more than 1,400 homes and businesses across the County. And, just this past week, the County and Lumos were awarded another $1.3 million from the state to add 548 more fiber-to-the-home connections. When all of these projects are built out, more than 85% of the County will have access to broadband. This is a huge accomplishment, and I thank the Botetourt Broadband Commission, County staff, and all of our public and private partners for getting us to this point. We still have a long way to go to get to 100% coverage, but we are pointing in the right direction.

And, speaking of the CARES Act, our efforts to strategically use that money to better the community became a central focus in 2020. While nearly every part of County operations benefitted in some way, from improved technology to enhanced HVAC systems in public buildings and schools, the impact of the money was especially important for our small business and farming communities. 82 small businesses based and operating in the County received more than $264,000 in grants, and 50 farmers who had received federal assistance also got more than $157,000 in grants from the County, coordinated by the Department of Economic Development. Every business and farm receiving money had been adversely impacted by the global pandemic, and I am happy we were able to assist them in this way.

As we have seen with these major accomplishments, Botetourt has a great can-do spirit in 2020. To further promote that spirit, I want to begin concluding my remarks today by discussing some of the facts, figures, and accomplishments of the County's various departments and Constitutional Officers. I wish I had the time to discuss everything that our people have accomplished, but I would need to be here until the next State of the County Address to get that done.

To start off, our Community Development department was consistently busy this year as the building community did not really slow down. Despite the pandemic and due to the department's increase in flexibility, the department issued 823 permits, which is a 5% increase over the previous year, and saw the value of those permits increase by 8% to nearly $62 million. This shows the strength of our construction economy and is a testament to the desirability to both live and work in Botetourt.

Our Libraries were also busier than ever this year, especially as they adapted to a new way of doing business during the pandemic. They offered new services such as virtual classes, online collection browsing, and curbside pickup while still having 123,000 in-person and virtual visits to the libraries and 94,000 materials borrowed. In 2021, the Libraries are still innovating by partnering with the YMCA in Daleville for a pickup and drop off location. I am proud of how they have been able to serve the community.

The Botetourt County Department of Social Services has helped nearly 1,400 individuals in the community get medical insurance in the past year, which is even more important during the pandemic. Furthermore, this past year the Department had 20 children in foster care, which is a record number for the agency, but 6 of those children are on track to be adopted this year, which is another record.

The Commissioner of the Revenue and Treasurer's Offices also achieved a major feat this past year by completing a conversion to a new tax software program. This is the first time it has been updated since the 1990s and was a huge project. This was accomplished while the offices moved from Fincastle to Daleville along with most of the County's administrative offices.

Our Parks and Recreation and Maintenance Departments saw major transitions this past year with new leadership and staff coming on board. As a result, I look forward to the next State of the County Address to be able to celebrate all I know they will accomplish in the coming year.

Also, as you may have heard, 2020 was a major election year. For the November General Election, the Voter Registrar reported 82.5% voter turnout overall and more than 9,000 votes cast during the early voting period. I am excited to see that so many of our citizens took part in the democratic process, and I thank the Electoral Board, the Registrar, and all of her staff and poll workers for helping us vote.

Lastly, the County's public safety agencies have worked tirelessly this year. Even with a pandemic, the work of the Sheriff's Office and Fire and EMS never stops. Last year, the Sheriff's Office responded to almost 22,000 calls, served over 6,300 civil papers, issued nearly 3,900 traffic citations, and made 628 arrests all while dealing with the impacts of COVID-19. The jail population averaged 141 for the last year, and thanks to all of the efforts of the jail staff and the policies put in place, there have been no cases of COVID-19 in the jail population. That is a miracle!

The Department of Fire and EMS responded to more than 5,400 calls for service last year while and continued to provide top-notch medical care every day, even to known COVID-19 patients. The Department also led the County's overall COVID-19 response, including in-house testing and vaccine coordination. The deputies, jailers, and fire and EMS first responders never let the stress get to them. I know many have had to deal with COVID exposures and infections, worked on their days off, and covered extra shifts all to get the job done. I and the rest of the County will never forget those efforts.

So, in conclusion, I am still amazed at all that we have done and the bright future that is ahead of us. As we look forward to the coming year, 2020 taught us to never take anything for granted. The world can change suddenly. But, if and when it does, I know that our community will step up again and achieve great things.

On behalf of the Chairman of the Board of Supervisors Mac Scothorn and Vice Chairman Dick Bailey and Supervisors Steve Clinton and Amy White, thank you for joining us today, and God bless Botetourt County!
